

A Phytochemical Study of South Gujarat Forests Plants with Special Reference to the Medicinal and of Ethnobotanical Interest

M.C. Joshi¹ and S.D. Sabnis²

Received on 21st December, 1985

This paper deals with phytochemical screening for alkaloids, saponins and tannins of 182 samples consisting of 14 species which are used as medicine either in indigenous system or by aboriginal tribes of south Gujarat forests.

-
1. Survey Officer,
R.R.I. (Ay.), Junagadh.
 2. Deptt. of Botany,
M.S. University, Vadodara.