

STANDARDISATION STUDIES ON AYUSH GHUTTI

A. Saraswathy, P. Brindhya and S. Rukmani

Ayush Ghutti a formulated Ayurvedic Preparation, has been prepared using six plants and one mineral drug. The medicine has been evaluated for extractive values, ash values and phyto constituents and HPTLC. In the HPTLC of the extracts of the ingredients and the medicine, spots with same R_f has been chosen as chemical marker and the UV spectrum were found to be super imposable. The results obtained have been compared with similar formulations procured from Patiala and IMPCOPS, Chennai to establish tests for identification and purity determination.
