

Comparative Efficacy of Pashanbhedadi Kwath and Dashamuladi Kwath in Management of Benign Enlargement of Prostate

Vipin T Tongale* and VP Ukhalkar

Abstract

Benign Enlargement of Prostate is one of the common geriatric diseases in males. In current study of “Pashanbhedadi Kwath” and “Dashamuladi Kwath”, which were previously found useful in treatment of Benign enlargement of prostate was done using A.U.A score and U.S.G. abdomen & pelvis, to give better choice of drug.

Patient’s fulfilling inclusion and exclusion criteria were selected for study in two groups. Each group included 30 patients randomly.

* P.G Scholar, Department of Shalya Tantra, Govt. Ayurved College, Nanded.

H.O.D, Department of Shalya Tantra, Govt. Ayurved College, Nanded.